

A joint HPMA and Weightmans seminar
Getting away with it? Harassment in the NHS.
30 January 2018
10am- 12 noon at Weightmans offices
St Philips Point, 47 Cannon St, Birmingham B2 5AF

Dear Colleagues

You will all be aware of the ongoing media coverage of sexual harassment allegations involving high profile individuals in their workplaces. You may also have seen a recent Nursing Times article which suggests that medical staff are treated more leniently than their nursing colleagues, when found to have committed serious misconduct.

So, we thought now was a good time to recap on the legal principles in harassment cases, look at how this impacts more broadly on the employment relationship and also consider the disparate treatment angle.

We have teamed up with the healthcare employment team at Weightmans to bring you a free interactive seminar which addresses these issues. You will have the opportunity to discuss trends you are seeing and your experiences of handling harassment cases within your own organisations.

This session will kick off the New Year on 30 January 2018 and we would be delighted if you could join us at Weightmans Birmingham office, 9.30am for a 10am start.
